7-Eleven Charges Forward with Installation of 500 Electric Vehicle Ports by End of 2022, Providing Convenient Charging Options that Drive a More Sustainable Future

JUNE 1, 2021 (7-ELEVEN CORPORATE)

Owned and operated by 7-Eleven, the new DCFC ports will increase convenient charging options for EV drivers by adding to the company's existing 22 charging stations located at 14 stores in four states.

Once this expansion is complete, the company will have one of the largest and most compatible fast-charging systems of any retailer in the U.S. "7-Eleven has always been a leader in new ideas and technology to better serve the needs of our customers," said 7-Eleven President and CEO Joe DePinto.

7-Eleven, Inc. is accelerating its environmental ambitions. The iconic retailer is undertaking a massive installation project, with a goal of building at least 500 Direct Current Fast Charging (DCFC) ports at 250 select U.S. and Canada stores by the end of 2022.

Additionally, the company recently "doubled-down" on its original commitment and pledged to meet a 50 percent reduction of CO2 emissions by 2030. 7-Eleven set ambitious and measurable sustainability goals in 2016 as part of the company's commitment to operating a globally sustainable business. To help address the challenge created by climate change, the company planned to achieve a 20% reduction of CO2 emissions from its stores by 2027. Instead, 7-Eleven reached this 20% reduction goal in 2019, eight years ahead of schedule. This CO2 reduction equals the carbon sequestered by more than 349,000 acres of U.S. forests in one year.

The company plans to expand Mobile Checkout to all US stores by the end of 2022.

Metro Development Has 5 Of Tampa Bay's Most Popular Communities

MISSY HURLEY, NOVEMBER 16, 2021 (PATCH)

WESLEY CHAPEL, FL — Five Metro Development Group communities – Epperson, Mirada, Southshore Bay, Union Park and Cypress Creek – are among the 20 fastest-growing new-home communities in the Tampa Bay area, based on new data from Zonda, formerly Metrostudy.

Also, the Epperson community in Wesley Chapel ranked No. 1 on the list, ranked by new home starts in the September 2020-September 2021 timeframe.

"Homebuyer interest in our Metro Places communities continues to be extremely strong, thanks to the convenient locations, the quality of our builder team, and the extensive and unique amenities we offer," said Vaika O'Grady, Vice President of Marketing & Communications of Metro Development Group. "Our communities are simply a great value for homebuyers."

Cypress Creek, located in Ruskin, had 222 new home starts and 265 closings in the nearly-complete community.

Three of Metro Development Group's master-planned communities in the top 20 are located in the Pasco County area of Wesley Chapel: Epperson, Mirada and Union Park.

The Tampa market reported a 38.9% year-over-year increase in new housing activity for the 12 months ending September 30, Zonda reported.

"Demand in the suburban areas of Pasco and Hillsborough counties is coming from homebuyers moving to Florida from other areas of the country, from renters deciding to buy, and from people who simply want a new home," said Tony Polito, Zonda's regional director for Tampa and Central Florida. "We see this strong demand continuing into 2022."

Built-for-rent houses coming to Tampa Bay suburbs as industry booms

EMILY L. MAHONEY, SEPTEMBER 29, 2021 (TAMPA BAY TIMES)

Florida has long been home to the sprawl of suburbia – the landscapes of near-identical houses with emerald lawns are as quintessential to the state as its reptile-filled swamps.

But a new type of suburb is sprouting around Tampa Bay: those with new homes only for rent.

Even as the housing market has an insatiable demand of homes for sale, a growing contingent of companies is focusing on constructing built-for-rent subdivisions for what they describe as an equally hungry clientele that signs leases almost as quickly as the homes can be erected.

Tampa Bay is a particular hot spot, exploding so quickly with nearly 20 build-to-rent communities complete and many still in their early development stages.

"It's like a tidal wave that is just about to crash on the beaches of Florida," he said. "I see it suddenly hitting this year."

Within Florida, Tampa Bay is a particular hot spot. The industry is exploding so quickly that solid numbers on built-for-rent neighborhoods are hard to come by, but Hunter is tracking nearly 20 communities, many still in their early development stages, from Ruskin to Port Richey.

Statewide, roughly 600 units were developed for rent last year, according to Hunter, who's based in West Palm Beach.

"This year, it's going to be multiples of that, and in 2022 it's going to be magnitudes greater," he said.

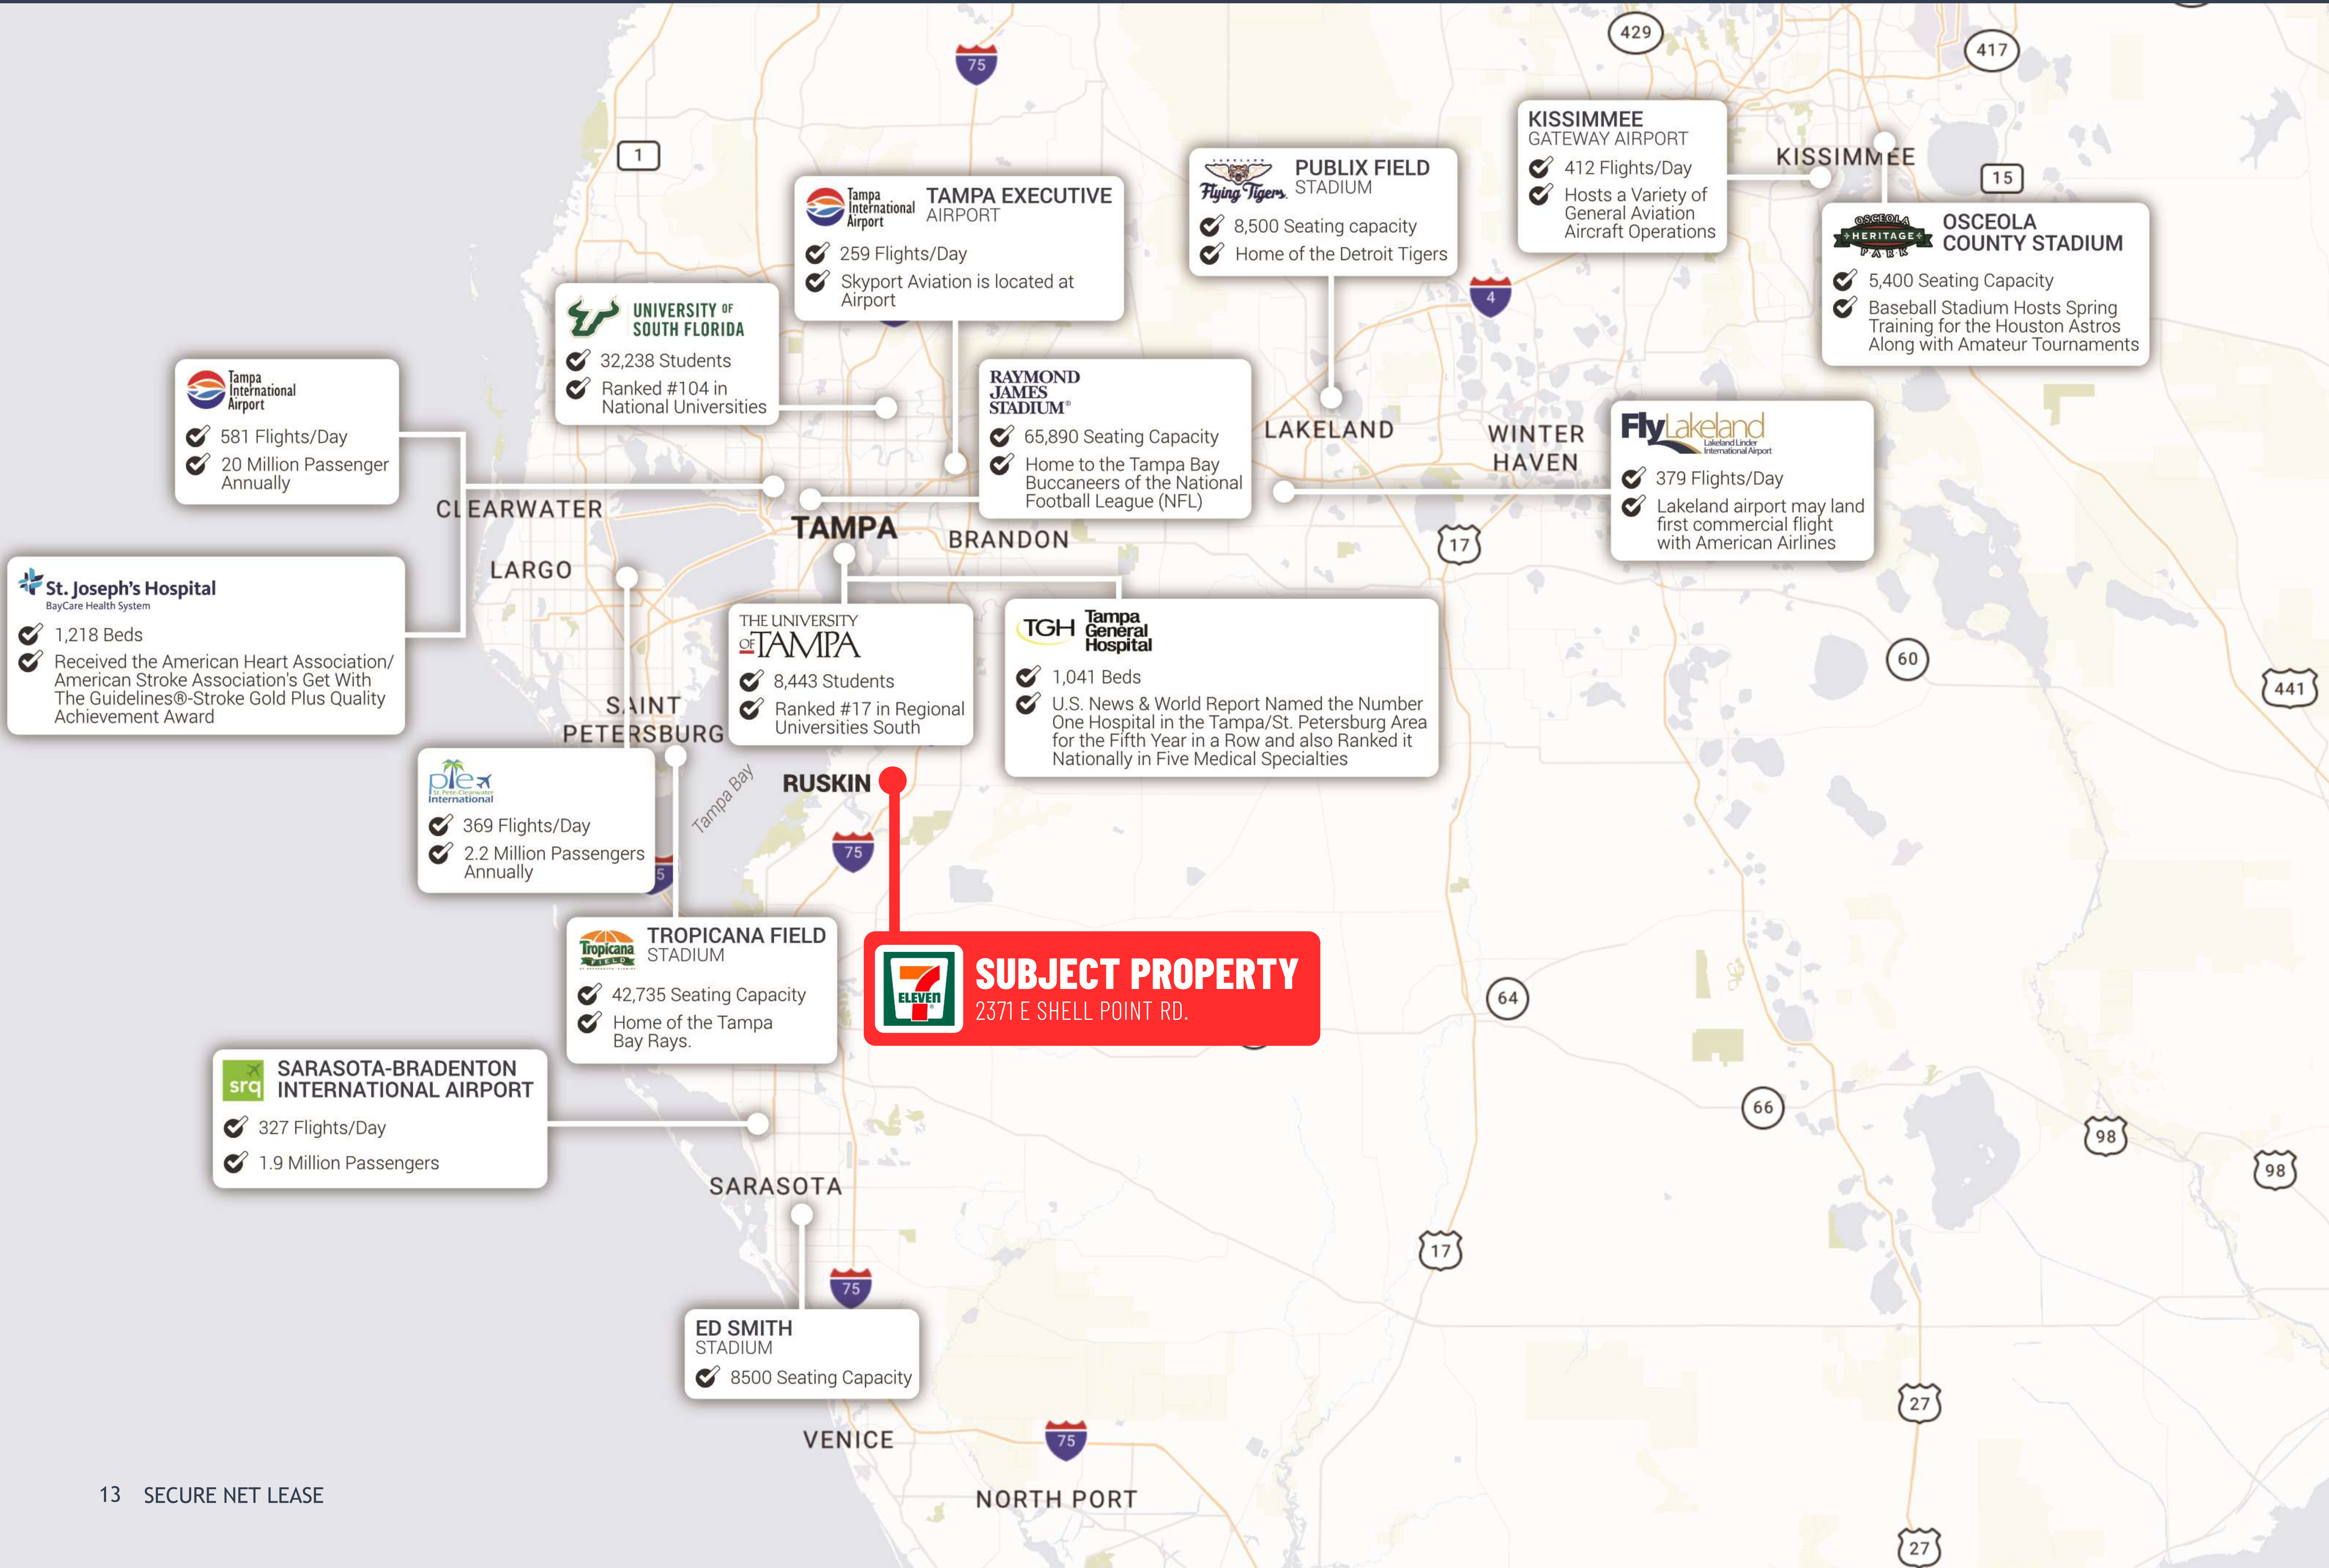

When the housing market recovered and cheap houses became harder to find, the built-for-rent concept was born. Hunter said the industry first started around 2012, but the past five years is when it's picked up the most speed.
