#15 IN THE NATION

Edinburg ranked as one of the Top 20 Fastest-Growing Large Cities in America

Edinburg is a large suburban community on the north side of McAllen, roughly twenty miles from the Mexican border.

Near the center of town, The University of Texas Rio Grande Valley serves thousands of students and employs hundreds of locals as faculty and staff members.

The city is mainly composed of residential neighborhoods, with thriving commercial corridors along University Drive and Closner Boulevard.

Perhaps the city's most dominant landmark, H-E-B Park serves as the home turf for the United Soccer League's Rio Grande Valley FC Toros, the local Houston Dynamos affiliate.

With a growing population of 102,483 and average household income of $65,081, Edinburg is primed for sustained growth as $235 million of commercial and residential development were permitted in 2021. The momentum of the growing economic industries, along with healthy supply levels and lower prices have lead to a robust real estate market. Residential sales data from July 2022 illustrates Edinburg home prices are up 29.4% compared to 2021, with a median price of $255,000. McAllen-Edinburg-Mission is a vital economic player in South Texas. Easy access to Foreign Trade Zones, ports, and international markets, this intersection of Texas and Mexico has created a stronghold for growing business which will continue to expand. Population growth and diverse economic activity drives this market with economic drivers being the food and beverage production industry, retail, healthcare, and transportation. Notable McAllen-Edinburg-Mission MSA employers include: Frito-Lay, HEB, Mission Paving, Texas Citrus Exchange, T-Mobile, Mission Shippers, and Duro Bag Manufacturing. The area's access to key economic markets attracts top manufacturers, health service providers, and other talented operators. Edinburg's higher education systems enrollment of over 60,000 students also deepens the talent pool.

Edinburg is now the 12th fastest growing city in the nation, Garza tells visiting site selectors

STEVE TAYLOR, MAY 2, 2024 (RIOGRANDEGUARDIAN)

There are over 4,500 lots under development in Edinburg right now, its EDC leader said. In the last 12 months the construction value has reached almost $400 million.

Two representatives from Edinburg Economic Development Corporation spoke about the growth of their city at an event hosted by the Council for South Texas Economic Progress. They were Executive Director Raudel Garza and Project Manager Carlos Garza.

After the meeting had ended, the Rio Grande Guardian International News Service secured an exclusive interview with Raudel Garza.

“Edinburg, residential-wise, is growing very, very quickly,” Garza said. “Of course, commercial, and industrial has grown as well. But residential, we are one of the fastest growing communities in the state with a population over 100,000. Actually, we are the 12th fastest in the country, for cities that are over 100,000 people.”

Asked if he could reel off any of the stats that speak to that growth, Garza answered in the affirmative.

“There’s well over 4,500 lots that are under development right now, under review or under construction. So that’s a lot of growth. That’s a lot of residential subdivisions that are coming up,” Garza said.

“On top of that, you know, we’ve had almost $400 million in construction value in the last year. That is something that’s way beyond even the previous years, and we had a great year before. So, we’re just piling it on in terms of growth.”

Edinburg sees rapid growth with new developments on the rise

JANELLE TANGUMA, JULY 12, 2024 (VALLEYCENTRAL)

Edinburg may not be the biggest city in the Rio Grande Valley, but it is the fastest-growing.

The city is seeing a spike in population that has led it to be ranked the twelfth fastest-growing city in the country, and businesses are being established in the area to meet the needs of the larger community. Raudel Garza, Executive Director of the Edinburg Economic Development Corporation, said the city has more room to grow in the surrounding areas.

“Edinburg is not land-locked. We can grow just about everywhere and in every direction – north, east, and west is really unlimited for us,” Garza said.

Throughout the city, new residential properties are being developed. Garza said there are currently over 5,000 lots that are either under development, review, or construction.

“You’re seeing all kinds of residential development, both single-family and multi-family and it’s all because of all this other growth that I talked about – the health care industry, industrial sector and of course the government sector and everything that’s going on,” Garza said.

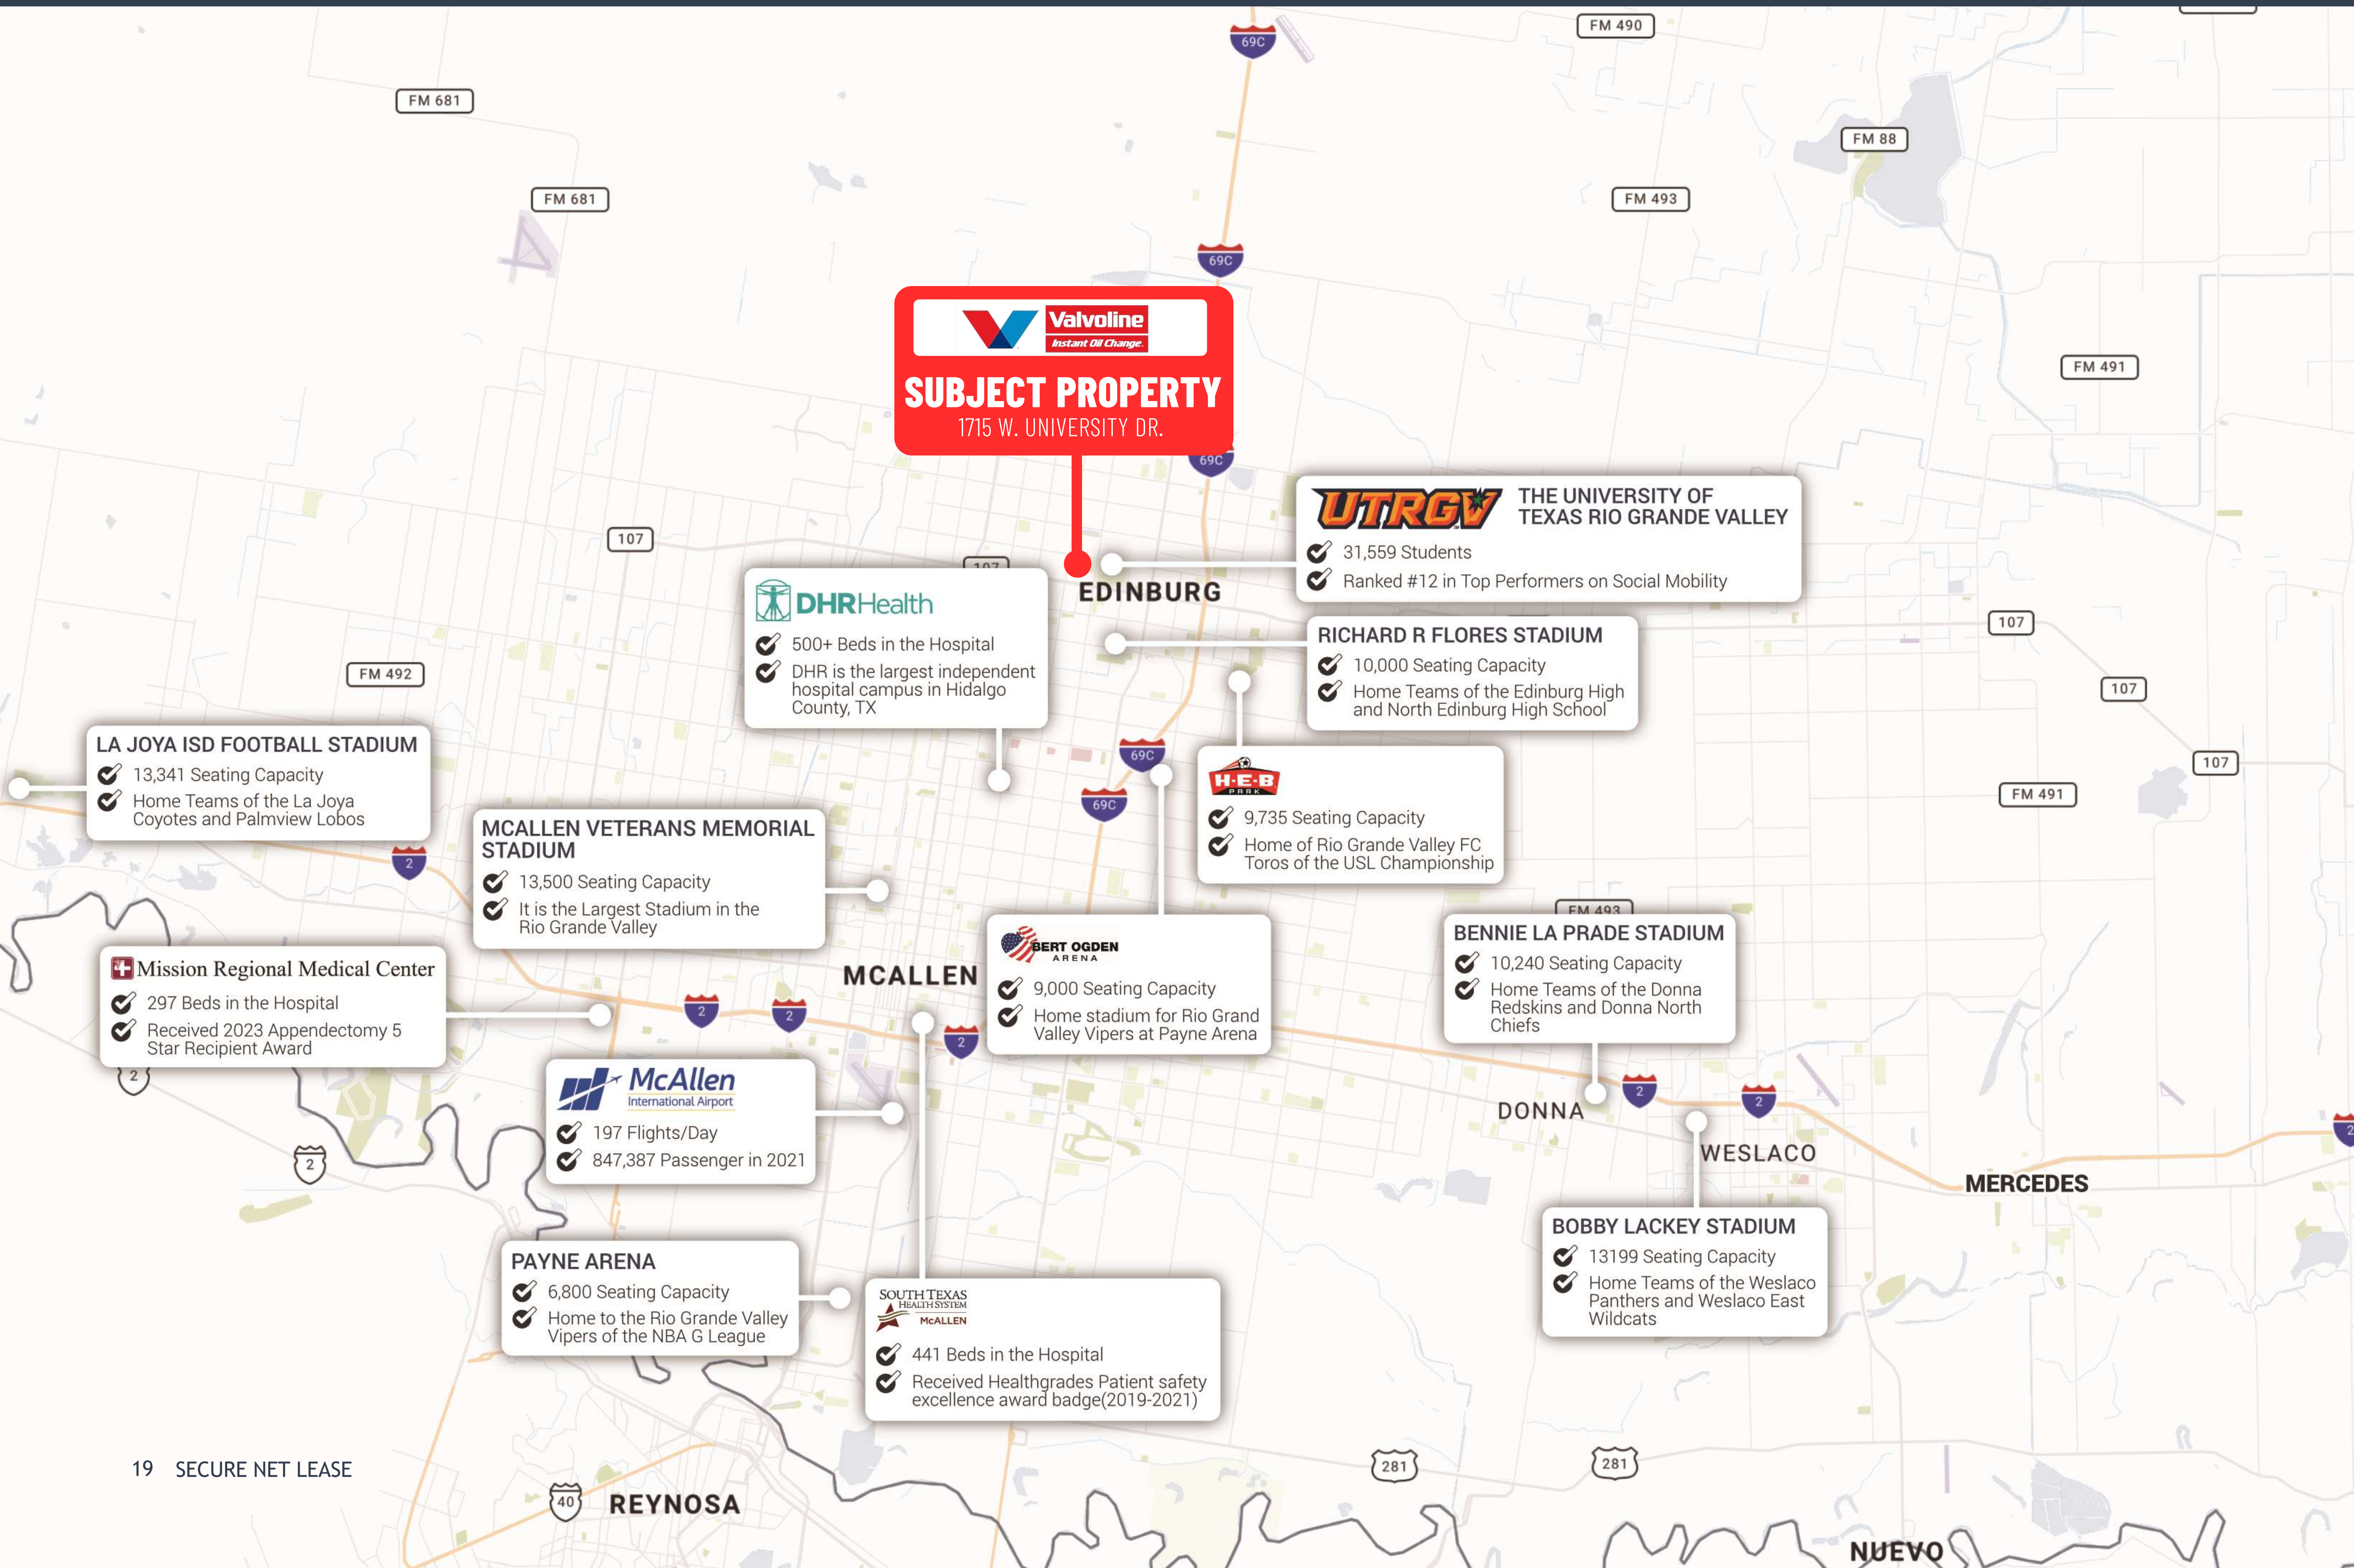

The University of Texas Rio Grande Valley is also bringing new business to Edinburg. Since the announcement of UTRGV starting a Division 1 football program, Garza said entertainment venues have shown interest in Edinburg real estate.

Driscoll Children’s Hospital and the city’s government sector are also factors that Garza contributes to the city’s growth and success.

TEXAS DISCLAIMER

VALVOLINE EDINBURG, TX

Approved by the Texas Real Estate Commission for Voluntary Use

Texas law requires all real estate licensees to give the following information about brokerage services to prospective buyers, tenants, sellers and landlords.

Information about brokerage services

Before working with a real estate broker, you should know that the duties of a broker depend on whom the broker represents. If you are a prospective seller or landlord (owner) or a prospective buyer or tenant (buyer), you should know that the broker who lists the property for sale or lease is the owner's agent. A broker who acts as a subagent represents the owner in cooperation with the listing broker. A broker who acts as a buyer's agent represents the buyer. A broker may act as an intermediary between the parties if the parties' consent in writing. A broker can assist you in locating a property, preparing a contract or lease, or obtaining financing without representing you. A broker is obligated by law to treat you honestly.

If the broker represents the owner

The broker becomes the owner's agent by entering into an agreement with the owner, usually through a written – listing agreement, or by agreeing to act as a subagent by accepting an offer of subagency from the listing broker. A subagent may work in a different real estate office. A listing broker or subagent can assist the buyer but does not represent the buyer and must place the interests of the owner first. The buyer should not tell the owner's agent anything the buyer would not want the owner to know because an owner's agent must disclose to the owner any material information the owner knows.

If the broker represents the buyer

The broker becomes the buyer's agent by entering into an agreement to represent the buyer, usually through a written buyer representation agreement. A buyer's agent can assist the owner but does not represent the owner and must place the interests of the buyer first. The owner should not tell a buyer's agent anything the owner would not want the buyer to know because a buyer's agent must disclose to the buyer any material information known to the agent.

If the broker acts as an intermediary

A broker may act as an intermediary between the parties if the broker complies with The Texas Real Estate License Act. The broker must obtain the written consent of each party to the transaction to act as an intermediary. The written consent must state who will pay the broker and, in conspicuous bold or underlined print, set forth the broker's obligations as an intermediary. The broker is required to treat each party honestly and fairly and to comply with The Texas Real Estate License Act. A broker who acts as an intermediary in a transaction:

- Shall treat all parties honestly
- May not disclose that the owner will accept a price less than the asking price
- Submitted in a written offer unless authorized in writing to do so by the owner;
- May not disclose that the buyer will pay a price greater than the price submitted in a written offer unless authorized in writing to do so by the buyer; and
- May not disclose any confidential information or any information that a part specifically instructs the broker in writing not to disclose unless authorized in writing to disclose the information or required to do so by The Texas Real Estate License Act or a court order or if the information materially relates to the condition of the property.

With the parties' consent, a broker acting as an intermediary between the parties may appoint a person who is licensed under The Texas Real Estate License Act and associated with the broker to communicate with and carry out instructions of one party and another person who is licensed under that Act and associated with the broker to communicate with and carry out instructions.
