Starbucks Unveils New Store Design to Restore Cafe Culture and Revive Guest Experience

BEN COLEY, MARCH 13, 2025 (QSR MAGASINE)

The brand wants more amenities that emphasize the in-store guest and encourage them to stay longer.

Starbucks CEO Brian Niccol wants everyone to know the “third place” is alive and well. It’s a concept the coffee giant has long embraced, giving guests a comfortable space between their home and workplace. However, with digital sales ramping up in recent years—accelerated by the pandemic—this idea hasn’t received as much attention. But Niccol says it’s as needed as it ever was. “We have a lot of work to do to ensure every Starbucks provides that experience, all for the price of just a cup of coffee with a free refill,” Niccol said during the chain’s Annual Meeting of Shareholders.

To reinvigorate the third place experience, Starbucks is testing a new store model that considers expanded seating options catering to work, socialization, and relaxation; more power outlets to encourage longer stays for remote workers, students, and professionals; and an improved ambiance to make stores feel more inviting and community-oriented.

The new layout includes dedicated areas for mobile pickup and new risers and pickup shelves to allow for better organization and distinction between in-store guests and mobile customers. Additionally, the brand is piloting abundant food displays to showcase offerings and encourage guests to try new items and a redesigned espresso bar to add a sense of theater to the coffee ordering experience.

“We’re working hard to ensure our coffee houses have the right vibe,” Niccol said. “We want to invite customers in, showcase our great coffee, provide a comfortable place to stay, and make them feel like their visit was time well spent.”

Pieces of Starbucks’ Transformation Plan Hits Stores Nationwide

BEN COLEY, JANUARY 27, 2025 (QSR MAGASINE)

Some major parts of Starbucks’ transformation plan have hit stores in the U.S. and Canada.

Starting Monday, guests who order a beverage “for here” will be served a coffee mug, glass, or in the customers’ personal cup. Guests may also receive free refills of hot brewed or iced coffee, or hot or iced tea. Starbucks has also officially brought back the condiment bar, including the return of creamer, milk, and several sweeteners.

These changes are part of CEO Brian Niccol’s “Back to Starbucks” strategy. His overall goal is for the beverage giant to return to a third-place coffeehouse where family, friends, and colleagues choose to gather and hang out.

This also means the start of a new coffeehouse code of conduct policy. Most notably, the dining room, patios, and bathrooms are for paying customers only. The guidelines also strictly prohibit discrimination or harassment, violence or abusive/threatening language, consuming outside alcohol, smoking/vaping or drug use, and panhandling. Anyone not following these rules will be asked to leave, and employees may ask law enforcement for assistance.

“Our green aprons are on, our playlists are ready, and our mugs are waiting to be filled—and refilled—with the finest Starbucks brewed coffee,” the company said in a news release. “So, pull up a chair, grab your favorite drink and stay awhile.”

In addition to the mugs and condiment bar, Starbucks is working on four-minute wait times, adding staffing in thousands of shops, and writing order names on cups. The brand has already removed the upcharge for non-dairy milk and pivoted away from price-pointed discounting in favor of focusing on the value of its story and coffee leadership.

SMALL-TOWN HOSPITALITY

Madisonville, Texas, is a vibrant small city positioned as the county seat of Madison County, nearly halfway between Houston and Dallas.

With a 2025 estimated population of 4,722, Madisonville anchors the county and continues to grow at a steady pace—up 1.29% annually and 6.81% since 2020.

Madisonville's location is strategic, halfway between Houston and Dallas and just 40 miles from College Station, making it a hub for local commerce, tourism, and regional travel.

Madisonville's central placement midway between Houston and Dallas, along Interstate 45, makes it a convenient stop for travelers, a hub for business, and a host for regional gatherings, with quick connections to Texas' major metropolitan areas. Established at a vital transportation junction, Madisonville sits where I-45, U.S. 190, U.S. 75, and SH 21 converge, naturally serving as a crossroads for key regional routes.

Madison County, with a total area of 472 square miles, encompasses rolling forests, rivers, and farmland—its eastern boundary is the Trinity River, the west the Navasota, and its southern edge is marked by Bedias Creek. The county's estimated 2025 population is 13,944, with steady growth year-over-year. Madisonville is its largest city and the focal point for business and culture in the region, followed by other small communities like Midway. Well-connected by Interstate 45 and several state highways, Madison County blends rural serenity with accessibility to major Texas metros. The local economy is tied to agriculture, retail, and small businesses, while education, community events, and natural beauty remain core pillars of daily life. Residents benefit from proximity to regional resources and the county embody the traditions and spirit of East-Central Texas. It balances growth, diversity, and a close-knit community environment.

THE TEXAS TRIANGLE

STARBUCKS MADISONVILLE, TX

The Texas Triangle Megaregion

The Texas Triangle links Dallas–Fort Worth, Houston, Austin, and San Antonio into one of the fastest-growing megaregions in the United States. It acts like a single large market for jobs, investment, and consumers, giving businesses and properties access to deep demand across multiple metros.

Economic Engine

The region ranks among the largest economies in the world when viewed as one unit, with a strong mix of Fortune 500 headquarters and high-growth companies in energy, tech, logistics, healthcare, and finance. This diverse job base supports steady demand for housing, shopping, services, and commercial space.

Growing Population

Millions of people already live in the Texas Triangle, and the population continues to grow rapidly through job growth and in-migration from other states and countries. This steady inflow of residents drives household formation, retail spending, and ongoing need for new residential, retail, and mixed-use projects.

Highways and Growth Corridors

Interstates 35, 45, and 10 tie the Triangle together and carry heavy daily traffic between major cities and fast-growing suburbs. Development follows these highways, with new communities, retail centers, and employment hubs forming at key interchanges and along major frontages.

Why It Matters for This Property

A property located in the Texas Triangle benefits from strong population growth, a pro-business climate, and world-class transportation access. These factors create resilient tenant demand today and support long-term value growth for both owners and occupiers.

Highway 21 construction between Bryan and Madisonville set to begin

JADYN STACK, JUNE 17, 2025 (KBTX)

The Texas Department of Transportation (TxDOT) is moving forward with a 20-mile construction project on Highway 21, stretching from South Highway 6 in Bryan to Madisonville.

Construction plans focus on widening Highway 21 by converting the two-lane road into four lanes from Brazos County to Madisonville.

Some community members believe the project is necessary to keep the roads as safe as possible. Tammy Hoke grew up in Madisonville and now works at Prosperity Bank.

“There’s just a lot more traffic on the roads than there used to be, and so widening it will make it safer, I believe, for citizens travelling from Madisonville to Bryan,” shared Tammy Hoke, Madisonville Prosperity Bank President.

Wider roads are one of the pieces of the overall improvement plan. According to TxDOT, the project includes fixing sharp curves, adding inner and outer shoulders, restricted crossing u-turn intersections, and other improvements, all designed to make the roads safer.

“When weather conditions aren’t good, it’ll certainly help out there to have wider shoulders. We could get off the road if it’s raining real hard or if the roads start getting slippery, going around the curb would be more dangerous if they’re sharper curves,” explained Hoke.

Hoke said the short-term delays are a small price for the long-term goal.

The project is designed to relieve traffic and get ahead of projected population growth.

“Construction time will slow the commute time for people trying to get into Bryan-College Station or even back here to Madisonville on the way home, but, overall, I think it’s going to have a positive effect to get that road,” added Hoke.

Construction is set to begin on June 26, 2025, and is expected to be complete by 2030.

TEXAS DISCLAIMER

STARBUCKS MADISONVILLE, TX

Approved by the Texas Real Estate Commission for Voluntary Use

Texas law requires all real estate licensees to give the following information about brokerage services to prospective buyers, tenants, sellers and landlords.

Information about brokerage services

Before working with a real estate broker, you should know that the duties of a broker depend on whom the broker represents. If you are a prospective seller or landlord (owner) or a prospective buyer or tenant (buyer), you should know that the broker who lists the property for sale or lease is the owner's agent. A broker who acts as a subagent represents the owner in cooperation with the listing broker. A broker who acts as a buyer's agent represents the buyer. A broker may act as an intermediary between the parties if the parties' consent in writing. A broker can assist you in locating a property, preparing a contract or lease, or obtaining financing without representing you. A broker is obligated by law to treat you honestly.

If the broker represents the owner

The broker becomes the owner's agent by entering into an agreement with the owner, usually through a written – listing agreement, or by agreeing to act as a subagent by accepting an offer of subagency from the listing broker. A subagent may work in a different real estate office. A listing broker or subagent can assist the buyer but does not represent the buyer and must place the interests of the owner first. The buyer should not tell the owner's agent anything the buyer would not want the owner to know because an owner's agent must disclose to the owner any material information the owner knows.

If the broker represents the buyer

The broker becomes the buyer's agent by entering into an agreement to represent the buyer, usually through a written buyer representation agreement. A buyer's agent can assist the owner but does not represent the owner and must place the interests of the buyer first. The owner should not tell a buyer's agent anything the owner would not want the buyer to know because a buyer's agent must disclose to the buyer any material information known to the agent.

If the broker acts as an intermediary

A broker may act as an intermediary between the parties if the broker complies with The Texas Real Estate License Act. The broker must obtain the written consent of each party to the transaction to act as an intermediary. The written consent must state who will pay the broker and, in conspicuous bold or underlined print, set forth the broker's obligations as an intermediary. The broker is required to treat each party honestly and fairly and to comply with The Texas Real Estate License Act. A broker who acts as an intermediary in a transaction:

- Shall treat all parties honestly
- May not disclose that the owner will accept a price less than the asking price
- Submitted in a written offer unless authorized in writing to do so by the owner;
- May not disclose that the buyer will pay a price greater than the price submitted in a written offer unless authorized in writing to do so by the buyer; and
- May not disclose any confidential information or any information that a part specifically instructs the broker in writing not to disclose unless authorized in writing to disclose the information or required to do so by The Texas Real Estate License Act or a court order or if the information materially relates to the condition of the property.

With the parties' consent, a broker acting as an intermediary between the parties may appoint a person who is licensed under The Texas Real Estate License Act and associated with the broker to communicate with and carry out instructions of one party and another person who is licensed under that Act and associated with the broker to communicate with and carry out instructions.
